93 Matchbook 2017 The Arsonist Chardonnay (Dunnigan Hills). This indulgent, full-bodied wine goes all out on richness. Aromas of malted milk, vanilla and cream lead to layered hazelnut, crème brûlée and poached pear flavors, while the viscous texture carries through for a lingering finish. Editors' Choice. —J.G.
abv: 14.2% Price: $22

93 Morgan 2017 Twelve Clones Pinot Noir (Santa Lucia Highlands). Snappy raspberry and sweet hibiscus aromas are layered with dewy herbs on the fresh nose of this bottling. The palate is both high toned and fruity, with fresh flavors of raspberry, dried rose petal and Earl Grey tea riding on zippy acidity. —M.K.

93 Paper Street 2016 The Narrator (Paso Robles). Fresh aromas of blackberry, lilac and lavender make for a lifted entry to this blend of 64% Mourvèdre, 27% Grenache and 9% Syrah from the region's pioneering Dusi family. Bright acidity delivers flavors of mulberry, plum, roasted meat and dried flowers on the palate. —M.K.

93 Pike Road 2017 Shea Vineyard Pinot Noir (Yamhill-Carlton). This wine is loaded with raspberries, blackberries, cherries and preserved lemons, dotted with baking spice and finished with a touch of chocolate-covered orange peel. It may sound like dessert, but it's a thoroughly delicious dry-red wine that will add to the enjoyment of any pork, lamb or poultry entrée. Editors' Choice. —P.G.
abv: 14% Price: $50

93 Salentein 2015 El Tomillo Estate Plot N°1 Single Vineyard Malbec (Paraje Altamira). Ripe blackberry aromas border on raisiny but pull back and settle on rich and chocolaty. This is a huge Malbec with a fairly strong current of acidity running through its core that brightens the berry flavors. Drink through 2030. Palm Bay International. —M.S.
abv: 14% Price: $50

92 Balletto 2017 BCD Vineyard Estate Grown Estate Bottled Pinot Noir (Russian River Valley). Floral, earthy and red-fruited, this wine is savory in accents of tea, earth and rose. There's a brightness to the midpalate that lengthens the experience, leading to a supple, succulent finish. —V.B.
abv: 14.1% Price: $46

92 Bodega Norton 2017 Altura Cabernet Franc (Uco Valley). An intense black color is telling, as are aromas of blackberry, olive and charcoal. A giant palate is plush and tannic, while black fruit flavors explode alongside chocolate and toast. This is an excellent modern Cab Franc from Argentina and an example of why wineries like Norton are giving the grape its due. Drink through 2029. Guarachi Wine Partners. Editors' Choice. —M.S.

92 Daou 2017 Pessimist (Paso Robles). This blend of primarily Petite Sirah, Syrah and Zinfandel starts with rich, lush aromas of black cherry, vanilla cream and caramel, with a hint of earth. Framed by solid tannins and bright acidity, the palate runs through similar fruit and spice flavors with plenty of power. Editors' Choice. —M.K.
